

Hi, my name is Christie Robbins. It hasn't always been. I was born in Denmark sounding the name of Christina, but it is a part of my new life, a new beginning that started in 2008 after a series of life-changing experiences that sent shock waves through my system and shook me to the core. Before that, I had lived a life feeling more and more miserable as each day went by, having addictive behavior towards men, cigarettes, alcohol, sugar, over/comfort eating, while having negative self-destructive and inhibitory thoughts. I was pretty much sliding more and more down the negative downward spiral as the years went by. Basically, I was living an ordinary middle class life trying to fit in and do what everybody else was doing which was after high school travel a bit, then go to college, get a Master's Degree, get a good stable job, marry some guy somewhere in between, get my own family and live in an ordinary house in an ordinary suburb with the whole package solution. It seems like the perfect formula for a good life, right? Well, it might be for some people, but I quickly found out that it wasn't for me. I used to call up my mom crying in my university years, feeling deep inside that this wasn't what I wanted to do. But the problem was that I didn't know what I wanted to do with my life! I was running on autopilot well plugged into the matrix of what everybody else was doing being right. Society must be right, right? It wasn't that I didn't try. Like with food, I'll have to at least try it to know whether I like it or not. So I found a good-looking boyfriend, kind but messy, and started transforming him into my kind of standard for a guy. Except, it didn't go so well. I ended up doing all the housework because I nagged so much about his standards, as well as killing the romance with my jealousy and further nagging about his standards about that as well. He couldn't really do anything right, basically. I was at a low-point in my life (one of many), asking myself, "Is this life!?!? Is this what I am here to experience!?!? Is this all there is!?!?" So in 2008, I made the decision to try to figure out how to live this damn life. I was mad at life, mad about being here, wanting to leave, die, whatever. But life wasn't going to get better just right out of the blue. I had to make it better myself. Within 5 years, I had taken 10 Steps towards Success, and I was attracting everything into my life that would help me either by showing me what I still needed to learn, or by inspiring me to higher levels. I now live a life where I have the freedom to follow my passion, which is to write every day forwarding my observations and reflections to other people hoping to support them as well. I have time to keep my body healthy with raw/veggie food, running, doing yoga, meditating and dancing, seeking the joys of my life. I get to travel and learn from new cultures which has always been a great joy to me. But most importantly, I get to keep on learning about attracting more healthy love and prosperity into my life. Because I can now honestly say that I deserve the best. A life completely in the positive spiral full of love, abundance, joy, faith, freedom, knowledge, hopes and dreams, passion and enthusiasm. We all deserve that, but it starts with us. We have to make the decision and then follow the 10 Steps to Success. And I am going to support you in every step of the way, having tread the path myself. Remember, YOU deserve to live the life of your dreams, and I will do everything in my power to help you get closer and support you along the way.
